It is a complicated world!

Making subject choices, college choices or career choices is not easy. There are many options. Also, LO teachers in school may not always be familiar with options outside their own frame of reference.

Making the right decision at the right time requires guidance that is:

- Objective
- Fair
- Based on real-world experience

How we work

We are experienced educationalists who have had many years of dealing with learners who have little information about what they want to study and where they should study to reach their career aspirations.

You need to ask some critical questions... to identify what really makes you excited about your life!

Your assessment takes 3 hours and includes interviews, educational tasks, interactive responses as well as an electronic interest assessment. We will establish the following:

- your learning style
- your motivational triggers
- your social & behavioural interactions
- your personality profile
- your interests and hobbies
- your strong and weak subjects at school... and reasons why.
- subject and mark requirements for Tertiary acceptance
- opportunities to visit appropriate work environments

After the assessment we will compile a confidential, detailed written report which will be shared with you and your parents/sponsors. This feedback session will take approximately 1 hour, at a time suitable to all parties.

We understand

Making choices is never easy. We undertake to listen to you and to help you discover how to match your interests to a great career.

As experienced educators we know that anyone can make mistakes. Despite that, we understand that all of us learn from our mistakes. Mistakes are not failures. More often than not, mistakes guides us to success because we learn from our mistakes.

A mistake should be your teacher, not your attacker. A mistake is a lesson, not a loss. It is a temporary,
necessary detour, not a dead end.

Study Skills

Why study hard when you can study smart?

- Learn to master complicated material in small, coherent sections
- Learn techniques to memorise facts
- Learn techniques to state things in your own words
- Learn to organise your thoughts

Study Hard?

Study Smart?

The difference is in the approach

Life Skills

School, college and 'varsity do not prepare you for the harsh realities of life in the workplace.

- Learn to plan your life
- Learn to work with money
- Learn how to prepare for a post-school qualification
- Learn how to become work ready
