Tertiary Education: Facts to Consider

Introduction

As you are getting ready to go to college, we want you to consider at least eight important facts. Research has shown that an informed student is a powerful student.

1. Responsibility

Education is your responsibility and not the responsibility of the State. You have to choose the college that best suits your interest and career aspirations.

2. Professionalism

Qualifications that are acknowledged by professional bodies will help you to become a self-sufficient entrepreneur. You will be able to start a professional practice earlier than those who follow the “traditional” varsity route.

3. Relationships with the workplace

Providers who have strong relationships with the workplace are better suited to give you career advice than those who have lost touch with the workplace.

4. Support

Colleges that are able to provide individual attention so that you could master the course material could be a better choice than those where you feel like “just another number”.

5. Affordable

We recognise that not all potential students can afford to pay high class fees. That is why we have decided to subsidise all our students for their exam fees, professional body fees, and books. You only pay for your class fees and for your initial registration. There are no other hidden costs when you register.

6. Flexible

You can register at any time. We have a rolling, all-year round registration. There are no cut off dates for registrations. In addition, you can register for as many modules as you can afford.

7. *Pay as you go

There is no demand that you have to pay all your study fees up front. Our pay as you go option gives you the opportunity get the benefit of affordable education on your terms.

8. *Reward

For each study year that you finish, you are awarded a qualification. If, for any reason, you cannot continue after your first year, you still get a qualification. Your efforts are not wasted.

9. *Focus

We embrace the idea of Focused Blended Learning. This means you study in block releases and that you write modular exams after each study block is finished. You do not to redo an exam after you passed any specific module.

10. *Alternatives

Not all professions require a degree. For example, you could become a Certified Chartered Accountant after you do your National Diploma in Financial Accounting, and after you finished your ACCA board exams.

Professional bodies recognise our programs. This means you can work as a professional much earlier than anyone who took the “Traditional College” route.

11. *Professional

You could qualify for professional designations after very completed study year in our programs. These designations could allow you to work as a professional while you further your studies.

12. *Tax deductible

If your parents own a business, your studies could become tax deductible (specific terms and conditions apply).
